

INNOFORCE

creative solutions

INNOFORCE is an engineering company that works primarily in the field of medical IT. Our company is one of the outstanding providers of groundbreaking and high-quality software in the domain of ear-nose-throat medicine with customers in more than 50 countries.

To support our team, we are looking for a:

Senior .NET Web Developer

for work on high-quality medical web applications

You are welcome to join our team, if you ...

- have 4+ years of experience in development of commercial Web applications
- have solid experience in OOP, database design and automated testing
- are familiar with software architectural patterns and modular/extensible software design
- enjoy producing high quality code
- are interested in the latest web technologies (e.g. .NET Core 3.x, Blazor, Vue.js)
- are ready to ask help from colleagues and to help others
- have solid knowledge of English (written and spoken)

It is beneficial if you ...

- have worked with cloud services (e.g. Azure)
- have experience with Agile development (e.g. Scrum), CI, TDD and unit testing
- are familiar with micro services
- have a university degree

What do we offer ...

- challenging and creative tasks in a young, dynamic team
- an attractive compensation
- support in your professional development
- the possibility to work on international projects including trips to Switzerland
- a friendly, collaborative and comfortable work atmosphere
- the opportunity to realise your own ideas

For more information about INNOFORCE, please visit www.innoforce.com

Have we stimulated your interest? We will be glad to receive your application (CV, certificates as PDF-files, reports about your previous projects). Please send it to: job@innoforce.com